1. Claims 30-34 are allowed.
2. The 112 claim rejections, first paragraph are withdrawn in view of the present arguments (see page 11 of the 03/24/2005 amendment). Page 10, lines 15-20 of Applicant's specification discloses that the laminate 12 comprising a backing 14 and a foam layer 16 wherein the foam layer may be a single rigid structural foam layer or may be of two layer form as shown in figure 3.
3. All of the art rejections are maintained.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

4. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.
5. Claims 1-18, 35 and 36 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. The "means for becoming a rigid reinforcement foam upon activation thereof" and "means for becoming a compliant foam upon activation thereof" render the claims indefinite because it is not clear what does "the means" mean. The means can be a density, reinforcing filler, effective amount of a blowing agent, curing temperature, time of curing in the oven and etc... None of these is clearly defined in the specification.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

6. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

Art Unit: 1771

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

7. Claims 1, 3-14, 18 and 36 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Nomura et al (US 4,128,683) substantially as set forth in the 12/22/2004 Office Action.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

8. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

9. Claims 15-17 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Nomura et al (US 4,128,683) substantially as set forth in the 12/22/2004 Office Action.
10. Claims 2 and 35 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Nomura et al (US 4,128,683) as applied to claim 1 above, further in view of Daniel (US 4,234,907) substantially as set forth in the 12/22/2004 Office Action.

Response to Arguments

11. The art rejections have been maintained for the following reasons. The examiner maintains that the phrase "capable upon activation of becoming a rigid reinforcement foam" indicates that the action of becoming a rigid reinforcement foam is a future action which may be done but is not required to be done. Similarly, the same token is applied to the words "capable upon activation of becoming a compliant foam". Accordingly, the rigid foam layer and the second compliant foam layer are not required to be components of the laminate. "The capable of" limitations are not positive limitations. Applicant argues that being capable of doing what the claim recites is a structural feature which distinguishes the claimed materials from materials lacking that capability. Applicant's attention is directed to column 2, lines 5-35 of the Nomura reference. Differences in the holes size and the hole density apparently lead to differences in the properties of the two foam layers, i.e., one less rigid than another. One foam layer is made with a plurality of small holes with a diameter of 0.1 to 3 mm at an open rate of 1 to 20% while another foam layer is made with a plurality of large holes with a diameter of 1 to 8 mm at an open rate of 1 to 50%. Likewise, one foam layer comprises means for becoming a foam material that is a relatively more rigid than another foam layer. Accordingly, the art rejections are sustained.

Conclusion

12. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
